

THE DREYFUS REVISION.

The Figaro Continues to Publish the Testimony Adduced.

BULK OF EVIDENCE FAVORS THE PRISONER.

Former Minister Barthou Says Billot Expressed Doubts as to the Guilt of Captain Dreyfus.

Paris, April 25.—The Figaro, in its publication of evidence offered before the court of cassation in the Dreyfus revision proceedings, continues the evidence given by Captain Guignot, who gave the court his reasons for believing that Dreyfus was guilty. First, his (Dreyfus) confession; second, the technical contents of the bordereau, and, third, the secret dossier.

Captain Guignot admitted, however, that there was nothing in the secret dossier that referred to Dreyfus or showed his guilt except the Panard dispatch.

Paris, April 26.—The Figaro, continuing the publication of evidence before the court of cassation in the Dreyfus revision inquiry, gives today the remainder of the testimony of Captain Guignot, an aide-camp at the ministry of war, and the depositions of Senator Guerin and M. Barthou, who were members of the Dreyfus military in 1914, when Dreyfus was condemned.

M. Barthou, who also held the portfolio of minister of the interior in the cabinet of M. Meunier, explained the attitude of the Meunier ministry, which, he said, considered it a duty to respect the chosen judge. He said he heard General Billot, minister of war in the Meunier cabinet, express doubts as to the guilt of Dreyfus during the trial of M. Zola, and that he (the witness) got the impression that the forgery by Lieutenant Colonel Henry was fabricated in order to convict these doubts.

Senator Guerin testified that when the cabinet was first acquainted with the discovery of the bordereau, M. Hanotaux alone made objections, based on the place where the document was found and the diplomatic complications likely to ensue if Dreyfus were prosecuted. He said he had heard of no other communications from the bordereau and only learned of any confessions of Dreyfus from the newspapers.

Paris, April 25.—According to the Temps a member of the Dreyfus court-martial named Freytag, in testifying before the court of cassation yesterday, declared that it was the evidence given by Lieutenant Colonel Henry, who afterwards confessed that he forged a letter that was largely instrumental in preventing a revision of the Dreyfus case, and then cut his throat in prison, which decided the court-martial to convict Dreyfus. He was the only document produced in the presence of the prisoner was the bordereau.

ESTERHAZY DIVORCE.

Wife of the Self-Confessed Conspirator Seeks Separation.

Paris, April 25.—Countess Esterhazy, who today began proceedings for a divorce from Count Ferdinand Esterhazy Esterhazy, said that the Ferdinand Esterhazy of her husband's letters by Jules Roche left her no other course. She would have given him the ruin and disgrace he had so undesiredly brought upon himself and her daughter, but now that he had published denigrating accounts of her and her family, she had no other course but to defend herself by a divorce.

"In Union There is Strength."

The strength of every human being consists in the union, the harmonious working together, of every part of the human organism. This strength can never be obtained if the blood is impure. Purify it, or there can be no "union" and therefore no health or "strength."

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the standard prescription for purification of the blood. It never disappoints.

Eczema.—"My daughter had eczema and it affected her eyes. The doctor said it was incurable. Her skin was smooth and white and all on account of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have taken it for weakness and can now walk three or four miles easily." Mrs. E. A. HENRY, Sank Centre, Minn.

Sick Headache.—"For years I tried different medicines for my sick headaches. Found no relief until I used Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is marvelous in its cure." Mrs. HENRY MILLER, Dunkirk, N. Y.

Indigestion.—"Hood's Sarsaparilla stands high in our family as the cure for indigestion and loss of appetite. It is excellent." Mrs. W. H. CARMAN, 119 E. Chestnut Street, Waltham, Mass.

Scrofula.—"After 20 years of suffering with a cancerous sore on her nose and having it removed by physicians, my mother is happy for being completely cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It took 11 bottles to accomplish it. Her face is smooth, no more sores." Miss E. A. HENRY, Sank Centre, Minn.

Crip.—"I was in very bad condition after an attack of grip. Nothing helped me and I almost gave up hope. I am strong and feel better now than in twenty years, all because I took Hood's Sarsaparilla which made my blood rich and pure." J. O. DUNN, 649 Russell Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.

Rheumatism.—"Inflammatory rheumatism caused me suffering so that I could not sleep or walk. Had no appetite and medicine seemed useless. Finally used Hood's Sarsaparilla which took away all pain." Mrs. STRAIN, Norfolk, Ohio.

MURDERER'S TRAGIC END.

Terrible Fate of an Italian Who Was Fleeing from Justice.

ATTEMPTED MURDER TO COVER MURDER.

After His Bloody Work He Fell Down Mine Shaft and Was Literally Dashed to Pieces.

Ellsworth, Kan., April 25.—An unusual tragedy, in which an Italian and his wife and a male boarder were actors, took place at Kanopolis. The husband and the boarder are dead and the woman is seriously wounded. No names are given.

It seems that the woman recognized the boarder as an escaped murderer wanted in Italy for killing a man, woman and child. He had been tracked to South America and recently came to Kanopolis. Learning that his identity had been discovered and fearing that he would be given up, he determined to kill the family.

He started in by shooting the husband and wife. The wounds did not prove serious and the boarder slashed the man about the neck and face with a razor, cutting off one ear, almost severing the nose and cutting two rasches in his throat. The woman was not seriously wounded and gave the alarm. In escaping, the boarder plunged headlong into a shaft at the salt works, spattering the timbers with the blood and blood until it reached the bottom, 1000 feet below. The head and hands were torn from the body by the force.

The remains were gathered up in a sack and brought to Topeka, where they were taken in charge by the coroner.

The Italian who was killed and whose wife was wounded was George Pilek. Thomas Minardi was the man killed in the salt shaft, said to be wanted in Italy for murder.

GARLINGTON'S REPORT.

An Overwhelming Majority Reported Canned Beef as Bad.

Washington, April 25.—The report of Colonel Garlington of the commissary department of the army, which was yesterday presented to the War department of inquiry, but not accepted as a part of the record, was made public today. It covers almost a hundred typewritten pages and is a careful review of the subject.

Colonel Garlington claims to have collected the opinions of 476 officers and 163 enlisted men concerning the canned roast beef, which he classifies as follows:

Twenty-three officers and one man pronounced it "good or excellent."

Twenty-five officers and two men "fair or good with exceptions."

Twenty-six officers and eleven men "mostly bad or unfit."

Three hundred and two officers and 149 men "entirely bad or unfit."

He comments at some length upon this, giving the various terms used to indicate the feeling of officers and men in regard to it, but says that where cooking was available, and the beef prepared, seasoned and mixed with vegetables, complaints were lessened or modified and some even praised it as a substitute for fresh beef.

New York, April 25.—The Herald's Washington special says: Despite the strong testimony in support of the allegations made by General Miles regarding the beef ration issued to the army during the war with Spain, the general expectation is that the findings of the court of inquiry will fall far short of sustaining him in all particulars.

The expectation is gathered partly from the apparent attitude of the court as evidenced by the questions asked witnesses and partly from their action in excluding testimony which Major General Miles wished to have taken. General Miles gave the court the names of 141 witnesses he desired to have called. Of these but 104 were called, although many of the others would have given testimony of great material to the establishment of the allegations of the major general commanding. A striking illustration of the disposition of the court to exclude evidence adverse to the beef was furnished today when it was decided not to admit the report made by Lieutenant Colonel Garlington of the inspector general's department, on his investigation into the beef matter, on the ground that it covered the same ground that had been gone over by the court, and that Lieutenant Colonel Garlington had no better means of getting information than the court. As a matter of fact, the Garlington report did cover much the same ground gone over by the court, but it had some new facts that were not brought out in other evidence, particularly as to the alleged chemical treatment of the beef. Lieutenant Colonel Garlington secured the evidence from authorities of the contractors and others, materially strengthening the evidence as to the chemical treatment of the beef, and justifying him in the opinion that the beef was so treated.
